Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 14.—After the game was over the managers of the clubs tossed a coin to determine in which city the deciding game would be played in the event that New York won tomorrow in Boston. Manager Stahl called tails and it fell tails and the deciding game will be played in that city.

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 14.—The New York Giants overcame the Boston Americans by a score of 5 to 2 before a crowd of about 35,000 people. New York's victory was a check to the hopes of the Red Sox team, which had hoped to win today and capture the world's series. The struggle for the world's championship of 1912 now stands: Boston, three games won; New York, two games won, and one game a tie. The two teams will play tomorrow in Boston.

O'Brien, the Red Sox' most pitcher, was knocked out of the box in the first inning when New York made five runs. Collins went in for Boston in the second inning and there was no further scoring.

Marquard pitched a superb game for the Giants, and outside of the second inning they were helpless before his mystifying curves. The official box score:

PITCHER WHO RELIEVED O'BRIEN

John T. Brush, president of the New York baseball club, was in a serious condition at his hotel here. Mr. Brush has been ill for a long time.

New York, Oct. 14.—A crisis in the struggle for the world's baseball championship was reached today when the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox prepared for the fifth game of the series. A Red Sox victory today would send the championship to Boston and the partisans of the National league pennant winners went to the Polo grounds to see their favorites fight in the last ditch.

Of the five games played thus far Boston has won three. New York had a single victory and the mixed satisfaction of one tie game. To win the series McGraw's men must capture—barring ties—every remaining game.

Although the sky was overcast this morning, the prediction for the day was fair weather.

There were plenty among the Giant supporters who expected to see the team embrace the slim chance left.

The reputation of McGraw's men for taking an unexpected brace when it looked as if they were just about down and out was pointed to as a reason why Boston's hopes of ending the series stood a good chance of being shattered.

Boston's own "comeback" of 1905, when with three games gone, the team found itself and took four straight from Pittsburgh, was cited as a basis for the Giants' hopes.

Boston Fans Certain.

The attitude of the big delegation of the Boston fans here for the game was entirely different. On the basis of results accomplished they believed that this day would see the struggle ended.

"Tessie" is good for another one," a Boston fan shouted, alluding to the song of the Boston rooters, which they claim has "jinxed" the Giants in the series.

Arguments similar to those of the fans were voiced by the rival managers.

"My club has been playing far below its form," said Manager McGraw. "To win three straight or to lose the series looks like a hard contest, but I believe, as the men do, that we can do it."

Manager Stahl of the Red Sox was naturally in cheerful mood. "Everything apparently is in our favor and, of course, we expect to win," he said. "If the Giants were to take a brace today there was general agreement that they were to start with the fielding end of the game. Errors, they say, have cost at least two of the games for the local men. Even with the poor showing which the Giants made with the stick on Saturday in Boston it was an error that let in what proved to be the winning run. Boston's fielding, on the other hand, has been much cleaner and more efficient. Wagner's work in cutting off hits has been particularly brilliant. The few miscues by the Boston fielders have, with an exception or two, not been costly.

Marquard Seems Choice.

"Rube" Marquard was McGraw's indicated choice for the box today. The big left-hander has delivered the only game won by the Giants and he has had a good rest. It looked as if either Ray Collins or "Buck" O'Brien might be Stahl's box selection. From a purely sporting standpoint many fans hoped it would be Collins against Marquard—a left-handed pitching duel that promised a treat.

A switch was to be expected with Devore back in the lineup if Stahl's final choice, instead of Collins, was Wood or another right-handed hurler.

There was no more trouble about getting seats today than on any preceding day of the series. The early crowds were easily accommodated and late comers found plenty of space.

There was general interest in the announcement that should the Giants win today the national commission had ruled that a coin be tossed to decide the place of the next game. If New York should win the game, and also the toss, a set of tickets already prepared will be placed on sale by the local club. The upper grandstand seats will be reserved and sold under restrictions in advance, the lower stand seats to be disposed of at the gates.

phenomenal one-hand stop, thereby holding Herzog at third. Herzog scored on a double steal on a bad throw by Yerkes to the plate. Meyers went to third and scored on a bunt hit by Fletcher. Fletcher was caught off first, O'Brien to Stahl. Five runs, six hits, one error.

Second Inning.

First half—Gardner scratched an infield hit. The official scorer, however, gave Marquard an error on the play. Stahl singled to center, Gardner taking second. Wagner struck out. Cady sent up a high foul to Meyers. Engle batted for O'Brien.

Gardner and Stahl scored on Engle's two-base hit to left, on which Devore made an error in playing the ball poorly off the fence. Hooper fouled out to Meyers. Two runs, two hits, two errors.

Second half—Collins went in the box in place of O'Brien. Marquard flied to Stahl. Devore struck out. Doyle flied to Speaker. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

First half—Stahl scratched an infield hit toward third base. Snodgrass too Wagner's long fly. It was a brilliant chance and it cut off a three-base hit and an almost home run. Cady singled to center, Stahl taking third. Fletcher took Collins' grounder and tossed to Doyle, catching Cady at second, completing a double play by throwing out Collins at first. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Second half—Herzog flied to Speaker. Meyers drove a long hit to the center field fence for three bases. Fletcher flied to Speaker. Meyers started for home but when he saw Speaker's perfect throw he hurried back to third. Yerkes threw out Marquard. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

First Inning.

First half—Hooper got a single over second on which Doyle made a fine stop but could not throw the runner out at first. Hooper was caught napping at first and thrown out. The play was Marquard to Merkle to Fletcher to Merkle. Yerkes flied to Snodgrass. Speaker walked to first after having two strikes called on him. Speaker stole second. Lewis flied to Devore. It was a pretty catch and saved a run. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second half—Devore was out, Gardner to Stahl. Doyle scratched an infield hit which Yerkes could not field in time. Doyle's role second. Snodgrass struck out. Murray got an infield hit. His runner was too slow for Wagner to field. Doyle went to third on the play. Doyle scored when O'Brien made a balk. Murray went to second. O'Brien made a motion to throw to first but did not throw the ball, which, under the rules, constitutes a balk. Murray scored on Merkle's double to right. Merkle scored on Herzog's double to left. The stands were in an uproar. Meyers got an infield hit. Wagner made a

Wholesale Release of Prisoners at Wyoming

FLEE ON STOLEN HORSES INTO COUNTRY

Armed Posse In Pursuit of Desperate Men—Barber In Rawlins Shot to Death By Convicts
In Their Dash For Liberty.

Rawlins, Wyo., Oct. 14.—Armed with shotguns, rifles, revolvers, cleavers and butcher knives, a half dozen or more of the most dangerous men known to crime in the west were said to be trapped in a canyon just south of Rawlins early today, and a battle between these desperate men and the posse of a hundred men who camped on their trail in the hills throughout last night is momentarily expected.

The men in hiding are among the dozen or more convicts who escaped from the state penitentiary here late yesterday afternoon, after they had empowered the guards within the prison, taken their weapons from them and fled down the main streets and through yards of private homes, terrorizing men, women and children.

The convicts paused in their mad dash for freedom when they came upon a livery barn, secured mounts and then sped onward toward the hills before citizens could arm themselves and give chase. The total number of prisoners to escape, it is said at the prison, will not be known definitely until those remaining within the walls are lined up for roll call today. Owing to the excitement in Rawlins the total casualties are not definitely known.

Mexican Is Killed.

Antone Pazo, a Mexican, heralded as leader of the convicts in their break for liberty was shot to death by Deputy Sheriff Hugh Rogner, who saw the Mexican as he started on horseback for the hills, after having slashed Bert Talbot, the owner of the livery barn, across the face and head with a butcher knife.

Charles Stresner, a barber, was shot to death while walking along the street, apparently unaware that the convicts had escaped and seemed bent on murdering all who blocked their paths. A negro convict was seen to fire at Stresner.

Five of the convicts who escaped yesterday were captured last night. They were Elliott, Fraser, Stewart, Burke and Gilmore. They had sought refuge in cellars of private homes, in box cars and in outbuildings. They were unarmed and offered but little resistance.

Desperate fighting was reported in the prison between convicts and guards following the outbreak, but reports that several men, both guards and convicts, were killed before quiet was restored late at night, are unconfirmed.

Eleven of the 20 convicts who broke out of the penitentiary Saturday afternoon after overpowering the cell house keeper and securing his keys, still are at large, and it is believed those who escaped yesterday have joined forces with their fellows who liberated themselves on Saturday.

Warden in Charge.

Warden Felix Alston, who, with a posse of citizens and prison guards, was returning to Rawlins after a fruitless search for the convicts who escaped Saturday, did not know of the second delivery until he reached Rawlins early today. He took immediate charge.

Although a company of Wyoming state militia remained under arms for some time last night, the soldiers were late in the night informed from Governor Carey's office at Cheyenne that their services would not be needed.

Governor Carey was not at his home in Cheyenne when officials at Rawlins tried to communicate with him by wire, but later he was reported by telephone and gave his sanction to a request made by the mayor of Rawlins that he be authorized to surround the penitentiary with armed citizens. The line was quickly established and had a quieting effect on the 300 or more convicts who made no attempt to escape.

Bert Dalton, member of the Whitney gang of bandits, who terrorized Wyoming for months, is said to have succeeded Antone Pazo as leader of the convicts now in the hills.

Dead.

CHARLES STRESNER, barber, shot by convicts.

ANTONE PAZO, leader of escaping convicts, shot by deputy sheriff.

Wounded.

Bert Talbot, stabbed by Antone Pazo. Convict shot by Marshall Hayes.

Two more convicts reported shot by posses.

Heavily armed posses from Rawlins, Saratoga and Bags started out at daybreak this morning to scour the rocky hills between here and the Colorado line, and if possible, capture or kill the escaped convicts from the Wyoming penitentiary who are in hiding.

The searches have orders to shoot to kill on sight. Several of the convicts are armed and no quarter is expected on either side.

A report reached here this morning that another convict had been shot five miles south of town, but this has not been verified.

Warden Alston, who was in the hills hunting for the convicts who escaped Saturday, learned of yesterday's outbreak when he returned to town at 2 o'clock this morning. He immediately took charge of the search, leading the new posse which left Rawlins at daybreak. Deputy Sheriff Taylor is in command of the men from Saratoga.

No report has been received from the posse which last night surrounded six escaped convicts in a canyon south of Rawlins.

The outbreak yesterday was the second within twenty-four hours. About 3 p. m. Saturday twenty prisoners escaped and nine were recaptured before 8 o'clock. At 2:30 yesterday afternoon a party of desperate life terrors overpowered the cell house keeper, took his keys and released their comrades from their cells. Every prisoner willing to risk a battle with the guards made a rush for the gates. A moment later the citizens of the town heard a fusillade of shots inside the walls. A bedlam of shouts and yells echoed from the prison. A few seconds later more than a dozen men dashed down the main street, armed with guns and knives. Holding the
